“ There are words too rich to convey. Angie knew I loved her and I knew that she loved me. I don't get to say that often about people. Her and Mama Gloria loved me fiercely and I knew it. There were no questions about it. Thank you for your life Angie. Llewellyn, Annette, Daddy Joe, you have my love. Thank you for sharing her with me.

“ The first memory that came back to me was when Angie and Lew were in the Young Adult Bible study group I continued with Lisa's suggestion. We studied and prayed on Friday evenings at the church so long at times that I had to learn the security code for the alarm because we were always the last ones to leave the church. 😊

“ Angela was that rare spirit that would make you feel as if you'd known her all your life, and could share anything with her, from your silliest side to the depths of your soul.

My deepest sympathies to all of her loved ones, and my deepest gratitude for having known her, albeit briefly.

“ Growing up, I idolized my big little cousin. She was a cheerleader and in middle school, I became a cheerleader, she went to Hyde Park and I went to Hyde Park. She could sing and well I tried. She was always a woman of faith and accountability. She would keep it real and love you at the same time. You will forever be missed.

“ The first time I walked into Angela's classroom to introduce myself, I knew instantly that we would become very good friends. Her smile lit up the room. Don't get me wrong. Angela was a no-nonsense teacher and she treated every student with dignity and respect. I used to visit Angela's classroom when I stopped at Franklin School. Angela also stopped by my house a few times with the kids so we could work on some school projects together and share a meal. She'd open her van and the kids would come tumbling out. What a huge loss for the world around her, her family, and all her friends. There's a quote in the book, The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks, that applies to Angela. "We must see in every person a universe with its own secrets, with its own treasures, with its own sources of anguish, and with some measure of triumph." Angela is a treasure that we will hold in our hearts forever. The entire Dixon family is in my thoughts and in my prayers.

“ Dear Dixon Family,
My heart is still heavy over the loss of my dear sister in Christ. Our Franklin Family will miss her presence dearly. I can only imagine the grief you are experiencing as well. Angela was a godly woman, a faithful witness of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. She was an amazing colleague with the joy of the LORD as her strength. I have so many memories of her in the short time I knew her on this planet. I want to share a few below.

First, to her husband she loved you deeply. Every morning she would be on the phone with you up until the moment she started teaching. She spoke highly of you and always had a word of encouragement for my marriage as well. She often referred to you as her best friend.

Next, to her children, you all were her pride and joy. She prayed with me fervently for all of you. Her hearts desire was for each one of you to follow hard after Jesus, and make an impact for the kingdom of God. Stay the course and carry on her legacy that she entrusted you with, you all are the salt of the earth and the light of the world.

Last, I want to share that I will miss her infectious laugh. Her continuous support and encouragement that she poured into me. What a beautiful soul. Thank you Father God for her life and the impact she made on everyone she encountered. May you comfort the Dixon family with supernatural comfort during this devastating loss.

You are Loved,

“ To Dixon Family,

I met Angela when she was my son's teacher. Once I told her to pop him upside the head when he gave her a hard time, we became friends. We later found out we had more things and people in common. It was truly a joy to have meet such a beautiful person. Love ya pieces my friend.
